Preface

Included in this booklet and the accompanying disk are six baby blankets, three receiving blankets knit in one piece and three slightly larger blankets with separate border panels. Both sizes come with three variations of heart designs with flower pattern in lace.

The pattern for baby blanket in Fan & Feather with Garter Stitch in the original 1990 limited edition of HEARTS & FLOWERS is not included in this booklet. Instead, it will be included in the next collection of lace and garter stitch patterns that work on G-carriage with either 24 stitch punch card or any electronic machines, including KH 900 and Compuknit ST which were introduced shortly after the completion of the original edition of HEARTS & FLOWERS.

Borders are also programmed into the pattern for Receiving Blankets. For slightly larger baby blankets, a separate border must be added on each side, in which case, the borders can be done with garter stitch (Patt. #537).

IMPORTANT TIPS: Since you will be using both Lace Carriage and G-Carriage to knit these pattern stitches, and both connect to the belt while working on the needle bed, special care must be taken in operating them properly.

In order to avoid jamming or abusing your equipment, be sure to move Lace Carriage completely off the needle bed onto the extension rail before moving G-Carriage. By the same token, G-Carriage must be moved away from the needle bed onto the extension rail before you can start using Lace Carriage.

Another important thing to remember is to make sure that the G-lamp comes on as you bring the G-Carriage back on the needle bed to start knitting. Once you become familiar with the pattern, it is so easy to start moving G-carriage too quickly onto the needle bed without checking the G-lamp. If you start knitting before the G-lamp comes on, you could end up with a crazy pattern. Take a moment to check everything before going on to the next step. It will save you time and frustration.

These patterns are not difficult. It just requires a little more concentration on your part and a little more time to check everything as you go. But it is rewarding to see finished products that look unique and complicated. I hope you enjoy making these blankets as much as I did.

Enter Patt. #902 and change FN position to Y 24.
4. Ten. 7.1. Begin to knit in patt. as follows:
 - a. Set G-CARR to knit 4 rs. and let it run for 4 rs. When G-CARR stops on R side, move it completely away from the needle bed and onto the extension rail. IMPORTANT!!
 - b. Bring L-CARR from extension rail onto the needle bed. The upper half of the figure 8 comes up in the memo display.
 - c. Move L-CARR 6 times to transfer sts. for lace and take L-CARR back onto the extension rail. IMPORTANT!!
 - d. Bring G-CARR back onto the needle bed and check yarn tension. If necessary, pull back excess yarn.
 - e. Set G-CARR to knit 2 rs. and let it run for 2 rs. When G-CARR stops, move it away from the needle bed onto the extension rail.
 - f. Repeat Steps b-e 3 more times.
 - g. Repeat Steps b-e but move L-CARR 4 times in Step c instead of 6.
 - h. Move L-CARR 4 times and take it away from the needle bed onto the extension rail. The lower half of the figure 8 shows up in the memo display.

5. Move L-CARR onto the extension rail, and set G-CARR to knit 14 rs. and let it knit. (PR# 60)
6. Repeat Steps 4 - 5 one more time. (PR# 4)
7. Repeat Steps 4 - 6 above until R.C. reads 354. (PR# 50)
8. GARTER ST. BORDER: Change patt. to #537 and knit in garter st. the same no. of rs. as the border at the beginning at Ten. 6.1. B.O. with latch tool and remove.

GARTER ST. SIDE BORDERS: Make 2.

1. C.O. 12 sts. the same way as for the center panel.
2. Knit in garter st. the same no. of rs. as for the center pattern panel (border + center panel + border) at Ten. 6.1.

FINISHING:

1. If you started with wy and r/c, rehang the work and B.O. with latch tool. Remove r/c and wy.
2. Pull the work lengthwise first, and lightly steam the entire panel.
3. Whip to join center panel to garter st. border on each side.
4. Optional Crocheted Edging: Add 1 row of crocheted trim.
5. Hide yarn ends and lightly steam the entire blanket.
